

BEATBOXMATON.

A PARTICIPATIVE MUSIC INSTALLATION

The Beatboxmaton is a bit like a photo booth. You are invited to come and produce beatbox sounds in a cabin that speaks to you.

After entering the cabin, each participant creates a series of sounds following the instructions of the machine.

The Beatboxmaton computer actually hides a real professional Beatboxer who makes each session evolve according to the participants, challenging them or more simply having fun with them during their visit.

Participating Experience :

Each person who enters the booth participates in the creation of a sound and visual material (proverbs, quotes, punchlines, mouth sounds) reused later in music video-clips. The recorded sounds are mixed and edited together to create a real music track in the form of a collective mosaic.

Public Experience :

From 2 screens placed outside the booth, the public can follow the construction of the work and encourage the courageous volunteers. Participants can also interact with the external audience.
